Rakesh Mistry Junior Web Developer

About Me

I am a highly motivated professional who has recently retrained as a web developer.

I am currently looking for opportunities to work as a junior web developer.

I can quickly grasp the big picture, using my previous skills as a town planner to conceptualise, plan and develop websites and mobile applications.

I love my new career choice. I am passionate about web development and design. I truly believe it is a unique and powerful art form. It is the ultimate blending of intelligence and creativity that can produce the best business solutions for any company that wants to be successful in the digital era.

My creative ideas and projects are on show at www.rakeshmistry.co.nz.
